Specifications

Table 1. Service features

Feature	Delivery specifications
Usage assistance, via phone or Internet	This service provides Customers with access to HP's technical resources via telephone or Internet request to obtain help with problems encountered. Usage assistance includes giving information on product features and usage, answering installation and configuration questions, and advising on connectivity and component functionality issues.
Problem isolation	Problem isolation for the software product is provided. The Customer is informed if the problem is perceived to be hardware-related. If the Customer's hardware is covered under an Hardware Maintenance Onsite Service Agreement, a service request will be logged on the Customer's behalf. If available and with the Customer's approval, a per-call service request at the current time and material rate will be logged on the Customer's behalf for problems related to hardware not covered under an Hardware Maintenance Onsite Service Agreement.  HP will determine whether a usage problem is caused by the supported software. When a problem is identified, HP will apply known remedies. This support may include editing or updating required files, modifying configuration values, or editing Microsoft® Windows® registries. Where appropriate, users may be directed to sources of software updates, or patches.
Installation assistance	HP software support specialists will help the Customer's desktop users by answering specific questions that may arise during the installation process.
End-user instructional support	End-user instructional support provides Customers with tutorial-style how-to instructions for supported products.
Flexible coverage window	The coverage window specifies the time during which services are available.  Standard business hours, standard business days: Service is available between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. local time, Monday through Friday, excluding HP holidays. Calls received and answered outside this coverage window will be logged the next day for which the Customer has a coverage window (may vary by geographic location).  24x7: Service is available 24 hours a day, Monday through Sunday, including HP holidays.

Customer responsibilities

The Customer will:

- Assume full responsibility for the management and protection of the unique telephone access number(s) from unauthorized use
- Maintain a current backup copy of the operating system, development program, and all other applicable software programs and data

- Allow HP personnel full and unconditional access to all software products to be supported; if security restrictions apply to any supported systems, the Customer may be required to assume additional responsibilities for maintaining the system and software
- Adhere to the licensing terms and conditions as stated by the original software manufacturer or sales agent
