

Siemens Brazil improves efficiency with HP Device as a Service (DaaS)

Siemens is a German multinational present in over 190 countries. It is focused on energy services and equipment, industry, digitization and healthcare. The company wanted a more dynamic and service-oriented solution to managing its large fleet of devices.

Objective

With a large inventory of devices, Siemens Brazil needed a fast, efficient way to meet users' needs, shorten issue resolution and reduce the resources required to manage equipment

Solution

Siemens Brazil selected HP Device as a Service (DaaS), combining hardware, software and services into one contract and providing an end-to-end solution from deployment to disposal
