Münchener Hypothekenbank eG prides itself on modern print security

German bank undergoes radical overhaul of print security to future-proof hardware from shocks

MünchenerHyp

Münchener Hypothekenbank eG is a partner to the German cooperative banks (Volksbanken and Raiffeisenbanken), providing a residential and commercial property financing services. In order to gain a productive, efficient and secure printing fleet, MünchenerHyp deployed a comprehensive HP print security solution. It has had an instant impact on the business, delivering a high level of operational capacity and securing confidential data.

Outdated hardware

End of lifecycle

After five years, the printers could no longer operate at full functionality

MünchenerHyp required a new modern and efficient set of devices

Top of the range fleet needed to service demand among lawmakers for information to be in written contracts

Limited printing options

Standalone printers

Replacement

Objective was to replace standalone printers with multifunction colour printers

Versatility

Nature of business meant staff needed to print in black and white or colour

Functionality

Copy, scan-to-folder function was needed for thousands of client documents

Robust

Robust printer would be suitable for bank's high printing volumes

"Our staff expect to be able to collect their printouts from the device straight away. The time it takes for printer to produce the first page has to be extremely short. We also needed the new devices to be easy for the users to operate and for us to integrate into our existing IT infrastructure."

- Herbert Bayerl, IT project manager, Münchener Hypothekenbank eG
